Crux Professional Travel Tours

There are many ways to achieve personal growth. Some buy red convertibles. Some get makeovers. Others sign up with Crux Professional Limited to hike the Kilimanjaro, work in an orphanage in Tanzania, travel through the Alaskan wilderness, or meet monks in Tibet. (Guess which ones we are). The University Of Hong Kong-affiliated travel company specializes in adventures that broaden horizons, pushes limits, and teaches skills that can be applied to daily life – you can bet you'd learn a thing or two on a 12-day climb of the Himalayas. From skill-building trips to full expeditions, every adventure is designed to benefit local communities, the environment, and, most importantly, you. Ready for a change?
