Ritz-Carlton's Give Back Getaways

The Ritz-Carlton is known for offering top-notch services to their guests. And now, they also hope to be known for extending that same kind of service to the communities around them. Select Ritz-Carlton hotels now offer half-day sightseeing tours that double as environmental-conservation and community-outreach trips, giving you a chance to at once enjoy and help preserve all those point-and-shoot worthy sights. You can snorkel and protect coral reefs in Bali, hike the rainforest and stop deforestation in Malaysia, visit a botanical garden and help save iguanas in Mexico, or (for those not concerned with sightseeing) choose to participate in one of the hunger/poverty relief and child well-being projects. Who would have thought? Staying at the Ritz-Carlton just got even classier.
