Jackson Hole Eco-Tour Adventures

The Wild Wild West is alive and kicking in Jackson Hole, Wyoming. And one of the best ways to experience it is through Eco-Tour Adventures. The carbon-neutral tour company has full day expeditions to the area's greats (Grand Teton and Yellowstone Park) as well as afternoon trips that take you fly fishing on Snake River or hiking in the smaller Teton Mountains. The city is very much into preserving and promoting nature (you'll see it everywhere from the antler archway to the Bob Ross-inspired artwork) and Eco-Tour Adventures is no different. Each trip includes a lesson in geology, ecology, and history as well as a chance to give back through their Dollars for Conservation program. Jackson Hole may be great for skiing but there's plenty to explore when it's green too. Strap on your cowboy boots and check it out yourself.
